This city map indicates all the churches and monasteries in Moscow that the author found and visited during a semester-long stay in Moscow in the winter of 1982/83 and an additional month in the summer of 1984 during his research for the handbook that was published ten years later.

The map has been scanned in at 600 dpi in five sections each for its right and left half, from bottom to top (so you see the title and legend first), with one additional scan for the city center.

Bamberg, November 2021
© Prof. Dr. Sebastian Kempgen
sebastian.kempgen@uni-bamberg.de
Original working material for S. Kempgen, Kirchen und Klöster Moskaus (1994): Moscow city transport map with locations of churches and monasteries manually added
Original working material for S. Kempgen, Kirchen und Klöster Moskaus (1994): Moscow city transport map with locations of churches and monasteries manually added
Original working material for S. Kempgen, Kirchen und Klöster Moskaus (1994): Moscow city transport map with locations of churches and monasteries manually added
Original working material for S. Kempgen, Kirchen und Klöster Moskaus (1994): Moscow city transport map with locations of churches and monasteries manually added
Original working material for S. Kempgen, Kirchen und Klöster Moskaus (1994): Moscow city transport map with locations of churches and monasteries manually added
Original working material for S. Kempgen, Kirchen und Klöster Moskaus (1994): Moscow city transport map with locations of churches and monasteries manually added
Original working material for S. Kempgen, Kirchen und Klöster Moskaus (1994): Moscow city transport map with locations of churches and monasteries manually added
Original working material for S. Kempgen, Kirchen und Klöster Moskaus (1994): Moscow city transport map with locations of churches and monasteries manually added